CF EVANS TENURE

2002-Present

David Summers began his career at CF Evans as an Assistant Superintendent in 2002 and was named President sixteen years later, after serving as Superintendent, Assistant Project Manager, Project Manager, General Project Manager, Division Manager, and Director of Construction. Clients work with a President who has personally held nearly every role on a project team.

With more than 10,000 units of experience, David is committed to client service and results, and to building the people and teams who deliver them. He embodies the core values that have defined CF Evans for more than seventy-five years.

On Your Project, David:

- Commits the company's people and resources to your project and stands behind that commitment
- Sets the standards for safety, quality, and execution that every CF Evans team follows
- Remains accessible to owners as an executive point of contact throughout the project
- Invests in the relationships and partnerships that carry from one project to the next
